(Information from Iain Kerr [iainkerr@clara.net])

This was either a Militia or a Fencible regiment - a part-time unit locally raised in Perthshire. There are almost no personnel records surviving for this type of unit.

28th LIGHT DRAGOONS:

(Information from Iain Kerr [iainkerr@clara.net])

This was the 28th (Duke of York's) Light Dragoons, raised in 1796. After serving at St.Domingo and the Cape Colony, the regiment was disbanded at the Peace of Amiens in 1802.

78th REGIMENT OF HIGHLANDERS:

(Information from Iain Kerr [iainkerr@clara.net])

This was the 78th Highland Foot or Ross-Shire Buffs, first raised in 1793, later The 78th Highlanders (Ross-Shire Buffs) Regiment of Foot, from Jul 1881 the 2nd Battalion, The Seaforth Highlanders, (Ross-Shire Buffs), from Nov 1881 The 2nd Battalion, The Seaforth Highlanders, (Ross-Shire Buffs, The Duke Of Albany's), from 1960 part of The Queen's Own Highlanders, since 1994 part of The Highlanders.

The relevant part of the regiments's history is as follows:

In Dec 1804, for the second time, a 2nd Battalion of the 78th Highlanders was raised. 850 men, under Lieutenant Colonel Patrick MacLeod of Geanies, assembled at Fort George, and were inspected in Jan 1805 by Major General the Marquis of Huntly. Stewart of Garth says: "This being the fourth battalion embodied in that garrison under the influence of the family of Seaforth in the course of thirty years..... This corps and the 2nd Battalion of the 79th, raised the same year, were the last corps recruited in the north under the influence of any particular family, or by officers for commissions."

The 2nd Battalion, 78th Highlanders was then trained at Shorncliffe with the 43rd and 52nd Foot and the 60th Rifles, under Sir John Moore. The 2nd Battalion later was deployed to Sicily where it was employed in the attack on Calabria and the Battle of Maida in 1806. It was then employed in the disastrous expedition to Egypt in 1807. The battalion was maintained at stations in the Mediterranean until 1809, when the remaining effective men were transferred to the 1st Battalion in India. The skeleton of the 2nd Battalion was returned home to Aberdeen where it remained for four years. The 2nd Battalion, restored to full strength, then joined the army under Sir Thomas Graham in Holland, co-operating with Bulow's Prussian force against Antwerp during the winter of 1813-14. It distinguished itself at Merxem, near Antwerp, and then remained in the garrison in the Low Countries after the peace of 1814. During this time it spent some months in Brussels where the authorities petitioned for it not to be relocated on account of the excellent conduct of the unit. The 2nd Battalion was in garrison at Nieupoort during the battle of Waterloo. Soon afterwards it returned from West Flanders to Scotland. There the majority of men were discharged and the remainder formed a depot to await the return of the 1st Battalion from India. In 1817, the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 78th Highlanders were amalgamated. The regiment then remained a single battalion corps until 1881. He married Catharine _____, b. circa 1780.

At the start of November 1934, he transferred to 4th Battalion of East Yorkshire Regiment at Londesborough Street Barracks, Hull. Following outbreak of WWII in September 1939, he was on training exercises at Stow-on-the-Wold in Gloucestershire. In Jan/Feb 1940 he was posted to France and was in the British retreat to Dunkirk in May 1940. Between June and September 1940, he was again on training exercises in the South of England (Weymouth, Clevedon, Dorchester), but was back in Hull by the Christmas of 1940. In Jan/Feb 1941 he was posted to Egypt and he also spent some time in Cyprus. In June/July 1942 he was reported as taken prisoner in Libya, from where he was taken to a POW Camp in Northern Italy. Following two escapes, during which he was hiding in the mountains of North Italy (and was assisted by local villagers), he was finally recaptured and transferred to a POW Camp in Germany. EAST YORKSHIRE REGIMENT (4th Battalion):

(Information from Iain Kerr [iainkerr@clara.net])

The 4th Battalion, The East Yorkshire Regiment (Territorial Army) was mobilised on the outbreak of war on 3 Sep 1939, and assigned to 150th Infantry Brigade in the 50th (Northumbrian) Infantry Division. It remained in those formations, apart from some detachments, until Jun 1942. The battalion deployed to France with the British Expeditionary Force in Jan 1940 and was deployed forward into Belgium in May 1940. It took part in the fighting withdrawal for Dunkirk, being evacuated from the beaches in Jun 1940. Back in the UK, the battalion was reinforced and re-equipped before being moved to North Africa in Apr

1941, where it joined the 8th Army. The battalion was employed in the Western Desert and Egypt, then Cyprus from Jul to Nov 1941, Iraq from Nov 1941 to Jan 1942 and Syria in Jan/Feb 1942, before returning to North Africa. In Feb 1942, the 50th (Northumbrian) Infantry Division was dug in on the Gazala Line in the Western Desert and remained there until May when Rommel's Afrika Corps launched a major offensive. The 4th Battalion suffered such losses in a week of intensive fighting that it effectively ceased to exist.

(Information from Forrest Anderson [maaf11@dial.pipex.com]):

The 4th Battalion of the East Yorkshire Regiment was part of 150th Infantry Brigade from 3 Sep 1939 to 1 Jun 1942, along with the 4th and 5th Battalions of the Green Howards. The 150th Brigade served mainly (but not solely) under the 50th (Northumbrian) Infantry Division, and the Brigade moved as follows:

3 Sep 1939 -	25 Jan 1940	UK
26 Jan 1940-	2 Jun 1940	France and Belgium
3 Jun 1940 -	22 Apr 1941	UK (evacuated from Dunkirk)
23 Apr 1941	- 13 Jun 1941	At Sea
13 Jun 1941	- 11 Aug 1941	Egypt
11 Aug 1941	- 14 Aug 1941	At Sea
14 Aug 1941	- 5 Nov 1941	Cyprus
5 Nov 1941 -	8 Nov 1941	At Sea
8 Nov 1941 -	29 Nov 1941	Palestine
29 Nov 1941	- 24 Jan 1942	Egypt
24 Jan 1942-	1 Jun 1942	Libya

On 1 June 1942, the day after General Ritchie is said to have declared "Now I've got him (Rommel) in the hollow of my hand", 150th Brigade was captured by the Germans in Libya in an area known as the Cauldron, with the loss of about 3,000 men.

WORLD WAR II - NORTH AFRICAN CAMPAIGN:

(Extract from "Deeds of the 8th Army" on website at <http://warlinks.com/>)

The relief of Tobruk was completed by December 10 1941, after an eight months' siege. The enemy retired and made a stand at Gazala. The Eighth Army attacked on December 13, and had broken through by the night of December 16-17. Benghazi fell. The enemy made a stand at Agheila. War with Japan had broken out on December 8, and the Eighth Army began to send troops to the Far East. The Bengali attacked our weakened forces on January 21, 1942, drove us out of Bengazi and back to Gazala. He attacked again on May 27, and by June 2 it looked as if we would win. There had been a steady drain of our armour, however and the tide turned. The Eighth Army withdrew from its forward positions on June 14. On June 20 Tobruk was captured by the enemy.

POW CAMP - STALAG VIIA (7A):

(Website at <http://www.moosburg.org/info/stalag/indeng.html>)

(Website at <http://www.b24.net/pow/stalag7.htm>)

Shortly after the beginning of World War II in September 1939, a POW camp called Kriegsgefangenen-Mannschafts-Stammlager (Stalag) VII A was established north of Moosburg. Moosburg lies in Bavaria, the southeast state of the Federal Republic of Germany - in the district of Upper Bavaria and the Landkreis (county) of Freising. Bavaria's capital Munich is some 50 kilometres (30 miles) away and the river Isar connects both towns. To the north of Moosburg is the famous hop region Hallertau, to the east is Lower Bavaria with its capital Landshut.

Originally, the camp was planned for 10,000 prisoners, but at the end of the war some 80,000 Allied soldiers - mostly French and Soviet citizens - had to live in it. In 1945 US troops occupied Moosburg and liberated the POWs. Until 1948 the camp served as Civilian Internment Camp No. 6 with up to 12,000 German prisoners who were accused of having supported the Nazi dictatorship.

German refugees settled in the former Stalag area from 1948 on. It developed into Moosburg's Neustadt (new town) with its craftsmen's workshops and commercial enterprises. Only few of the the old prisoners' barracks still exist today. But there is the memorial on the former POW cemetery in Oberreit and the Stalag fountain in the new town.

27. James GILLARD, b. 1945. Notes: EMAIL from James Gillard [james@mccm.freemove.co.uk] 04/Jun/99:

My mother Alice was the youngest child of James Macaulay and Bertha Hurdman which would make your mother and me cousins. It had never dawned on me that "cousin Betty" might be a Bertha! As a child I went to 11 Craven Street with Alice but do not have any real memories of these visits. I last visited aunt Daisy in Bransholme in the late 80's. I have a vague recollection of being on Holderness Road as a boy in the 50's with Alice and meeting cousin Alan - I think he wore a white silk scarf!

Alice moved from Craven Street with Elsie to 38 Jesmond Gardens during the war [Kate, Arthur & "young Stivie" had moved to No.44 earlier]. Alice married James Gillard in 1944. Cousin Arthur's wife, Edna [Boylan] was my Godmother. I was born in 1945, an only child and I left Hull in 1965 to become a minister of religion - Officer of The Salvation Army. I married June Ruth Marriott in 1968 and we have three children: Stephen James [b.1969] Daniel Mark [b.1972] and Rebecca Ruth [B.1975]. June and I divorced in 1984.

June, Stephen & Rebecca live in Bolton. Daniel lived with me in Manchester for 5yrs while at university. He is now married to Nicola Ann Stevenson and lives in Chorley. I live in Salford.

After coming out, leaving the S.A. and divorcing, I was a local government officer until being forced to take medical retirement due to heart disease. I have been active in the Metropolitan Community Church in Manchester for 10 years and this occupies much of my time.

As Alice & Elsie were the last at home [Craven Street] I do have some family documents of which you might like copies - let me know!
